

Considering using cloud services?
Then SAS Computing recommends...

USE THIS

NOT THAT

Surveys:

Faculty can sign up for a free account at <https://sasupenn.qualtrics.com>. Penn's agreement with them ensures your data is confidential.

With just a "click-through" agreement, there's no guarantee that Survey Monkey will keep your survey results confidential.

Documents:

Penn+Box!

Penn+Box is safe for most sensitive data, and it won't turn off without warning. You can use it to sync your data, to collaborate with anyone (including people outside of Penn), and your first 50 GB are free!

Dropbox reserves the right to "stop, suspend, or modify their services at any time without prior notice to you." What would you do if it suddenly stopped without warning?

Hosting:

Penn has a hosted service contract with AWS which provides better protections for your data than the standard "click-through" agreement. Make sure your AWS account is covered by the Penn contract.

Other third-party hosting solutions don't provide Penn users with satisfactory data protection guarantees

Penn-sponsored cloud services keep your data safer!
yourdata.sas.upenn.edu/cloud